All this matters and is in a chirography not familiar to us. not with Brother Brown; they swear hard, but they vote the Democratic ticket. Democracy, like charity, covers many sins.

Aaron furthermore saith unto the Metholist Know-Nothings that they are conspirators. He says, "the offense of conspiracy is not confined to the prejudicing of a particular individual; it may be to injure public trade, to He cites New York, Massachusetts, New Jo sey, Virginia, Alabama, and English law Looks to prove what is the law of conspwacy. The result of all this parade is aummed up in the following citation: "The gist of the offence of conspiracy consists in a confederacy to do an unlawful act, and the offence is complete when the confederacy is made." This doubtless is sound law. If it is an unlawful act for men to resolve, or awear, if you please, that they will not vote for foreigners and Catholics for public office, then the case is made out. It strikes us that this compiracy business is very much like the principle in natural philosophy, that "action and reaction are equal and opposite to each oth-er." If the Know Nothings have compired against the Sag-Nichts, so have the Sag-Nichts onspired against the Know Nott have each resolved not to vote for the other for public office. A man's vote is his own, and is disposable by none other than himself. It is as CMPHANT.—Our readers will recco lect that an injunction was granted by Judge Treat, of the circuit court of St Louis, on application of the city and country of St. Louis, to prohibit the sale of the Western division of the Ohio and Missinspipi Railroad, by Page & Bacon. The case was decided vesterday against the city and the case was decided vesterday against the case of the case Mississappi Raifroad, by Page & Bacon. The case was decided yesterday against the city and country, which owned several hundred thousand dollars' worth of stock in the road. It is supposed that the decision of the court is based on the ground that the city and country had no the ground that the city and country had no tright to take abook in a foreign company—it being an incorporation of the State of Illinois, through which the road extends. The following private dispatch, for which we are indebted to a friend, brought the information:

St. Lours, Oct. 20.

The court has given its decision in the in unction still brought against the Ohio and Mississeppi Railroad Company. The injunction is dissolved. The court decides that neither the city or country of St. Louis are stockholders to made countr

There were only 3 feet 11 inches water in the canal last evening. There are about 6 feet water on the bars to Cairo. The weather was warm yesterday and had the appearance of rain. The memorandum of the Fashiou, in another column, gives the latest river intelligence from below. The Mississappi was falling on Sunday with 10 feet water in the channel. The Upper Mississappi was falling on Sunday with 12 feet water on the rapids. The Missouri continued very low.

The T. C. Twitchell passed Memphia on Mooday—all well. She he expected to arrive on Thursday, and will return to New Urleans on Friday.

We are indebted to Mr. Woolfolk, of the John Tompkins, for a copy of the manifest. Also to Mr. J. W. Clark, of the Fashiou, for similar favors. The Tompkins speece for the Tennessee river on Thursday, evening next.

The Theater.—Like a really beautiful free, Miss Kimberly, as Camille, improves upon acquaitance. That her acting in the last three scenes of this play is really most excellent and true to nature was most abundantly atteated by the many tearful eyes among the au ience last light. The finale of the play is said, too said, but so truly was it represented by this admirable artiste that but few, even among the gayand heartess, could feel that they were not actually looking upon the faithful, trusting, self-sacrificing, dying Camille.

As Arrinstie, in the Little Jockey, Miss Kimberly was absolutely winning. This comedy gave great satisfaction to the audience.
